

Human Rights Facilitator Training

The Human Rights City Edmonton Project is pleased to present the 3rd Human Rights Facilitator Training Program! This 10 week program explores human rights issues in your community while learning hands-on facilitation experience. Guest speakers will round out the sessions to give you background information and different perspectives to complement your efforts through the 24 Participatory Exercises developed by PDHRE. You will gain a firm understanding and appreciation for all jurisdictions of international conventions and human rights law as well as become proficient with the basics of human rights. At the end, you will have the opportunity to show off your new skills by conducting workshops in your community, informally and formally, as human rights facilitators.

Facilitated by the John Humphrey Centre for Peace and Human Rights, this program will take place over ten weeks from January 30-April 3 2009. Successful applicants are expected to attend each session with only one absence permitting in order to receive certification at the end after successful completion of workshops.

We are seeking committed individuals who are interested in human rights issues and want to learn more or wish to expand their knowledge. This can be considered an excellent professional development opportunity as past facilitators have been highly-sought after in the workplace and by community organizations. No experience is necessary; just enthusiasm and a willingness to be open and learn new skills and knowledge!

Cost: $140
